

*What can YOU do about climate change?
Participate in a educational program in your backyard!*

This unique Fellowship enables you to:

- Experience a one-day, professional development program at the Smithsonian Environmental Research Center (SERC) in Edgewater, MD with ~10 other educators from the Annapolis/Washington DC/Baltimore area.

- Observe research near the Chesapeake Bay as part of a groundbreaking, global program by leading climate scientists.

- Become empowered by your knowledge of climate change and how you can make a difference.
- Learn how to transfer knowledge into action.

Formed in 2007, the HSBC Climate Partnership brings together HSBC, The Climate Group, Earthwatch Institute, Smithsonian Tropical Research Institute and WWF to tackle the urgent threat of climate change on people, water, forests and cities. For more information visit www.hsbc.com/committochange.
